The Way Of Life For Chuckwagon Competitors Is Risky

Chuckwagon racing is an action-packed sport and the risks are very real for chuckwagon competitors. All these competitors want in life is to be able to do what they love with whom they love; their beloved horses and family. However, sometimes the inevitable happens due to the fast-paced nature of the sport and the driver's and their families need assistance. The risks facing a chuckwagon driver or outrider are like no other. A serious injury can have a severe impact on the lives of these athletes.

Benevolent Fund Helps Support

The World Professional Chuckwagon Association's Benevolent Fund assists these athletes in times of financial hardship due to race-related injuries allowing them to try to heal in time for the next race season.

To Make A Difference

The primary fundraising initiative for the fund is the WPCA's merchandise trailer sponsored by Encana. The merchandise trailer can be found at all the official WPCA Dodge Pro Tour locations. Merchandise can also be ordered year round through the office by calling: 403.236.2466.

Direct donations may be made directly to the WPCA Benevolent Fund:
